

Mission Statement

The research and teaching activities of the faculty and staff of the Institute for Retailing & Marketing concentrate mainly on marketing-related problems in retail business administration. Students of retailing and marketing receive a well-founded education in the theories, methods and techniques of marketing, with an emphasis on the aspects unique to the retailing sector. A practical approach through contact with the business community plays an important role in our programs