

PROGRAMME

Frontiers in Legal Linguistics

25th November 2022

Department of Foreign Language Business Communication, Building D2, Room D2.2.228

9:00-9:15	Welcome
9:15-9:30	Opening & welcome address
9:30-10:30	Keynote: Mathew Gillings Using corpus linguistics to study law and language: current trends and future directions
10:30-10:45	Break
10:45-11:15	Daniel Green Standard form contracts: a corpus-based exploration of AGB usage in Austria
11:15-11:45	Garland C. Moore The needs and requirements for interpreters in court proceedings in Georgia
11:45-13:00	Lunch Department Lounge
13:00-14:00	Keynote: Georg Kodek Law and language: some observations on statutory construction and legal discourse
14:00-14:15	Break
14:15-14:45	Jan Engberg Strategies of popularization of law by a legal institution – the case of the Danish court administration
14:45-15:15	Paolo Canavese Is legal language resistant to change? An NLP-informed micro-diachronic analysis of Swiss legislation in Italian
15:15-15:30	Break
15:30-16:00	Ruth Breeze Learning to write like a lawyer: A focus on stance
16:00-16:30	Alexander Beer & Nigel Reynard Translating legal texts: pitfalls and peculiarities – a practitioners' perspective
16:30-17:00	Lúcia de Almeida Ferrari The LEX-BR-lus corpus: methodological issues and the challenges of compiling a corpus of Brazilian Portuguese legislation
17:00-17:30	Closing discussion & farewell