

WU Department of Economics
Internal Economic Research Seminar Bratislava
May 11-13, 2023

Thursday, May 11th, 6pm

Reiner Martin (National Bank of Slovakia)

"Combining economic research and policy – the case of Macroprudential Policy"

Friday, May 12th, 9am – 3.30pm

Michal Marenčák (National Bank of Slovakia)

"Inflation expectations at times of high and low inflation"

Oscar Fernandez (WU Department of Economics)

"Financing Costs Over The Business Cycle: Emerging Versus Advanced Economies"

Zhenyi Wang (WU Department of Economics)

"Everything You Always Wanted to Know About EU Membership Trade Effects But Were Afraid to Ask"

Marián Vávra (National Bank of Slovakia)

"On Using Triples to Assess Symmetry Under Weak Dependence"

Anna-Magdalena Schwarz (WU Department of Economics)

"Reframing active labour market policy"

Roberto Asmat (WU Department of Economics)

"Non-monetary Awards and Social Comparison in Mathematical Olympiad: Evidence from a Regression Discontinuity Design"

Cesar Castro Roza (WU Department of Economics)

"Shocks and Elasticities in the Global Oil Market"

Pia Heckl (WU Department of Economics)

"Can Firms Reduce the Child Penalty? Consequences of a Mandated Increase in Firm Family-Friendliness"

Saturday, May 13th, 9.30am – 12.30pm

Daniela Rroshi (WU Department of Economics)

"Collective Reputation Effects: Empirical Evidence from the Austrian Wine Market"

Ulrich Wohak (WU Department of Economics)

"Free the Period? Evaluating Tampon Tax Reforms using Transaction-Level Scanner Data."

Edoardo Cefala (WU Department of Economics)

"I Want My Country Back! British Euroscepticism after the Eastern European Enlargement"

Stefan Halbauer (WU Department of Economics)

"The Effect of Income Thresholds on Female Labor Supply during Parental Leave"

Nikolas Kuschnig (WU Department of Economics)

"Shrinkage in Space: Spillovers in a Bayesian Hierarchical Model"