

Dr. Bjørn Stensaker is a professor of higher education and the current vice-rector education at University of Oslo. Dr. Stensaker has a special research interest related to policy reform, governance and organizational change in higher education. He has published widely on these issues in a range of international journals and book series. Some recent publications: Lee, J.J. & Stensaker, B. (2021) Research on internationalization and globalisation in higher education - reflections in historical paths, current perspectives and future possibilities (European Journal of Education) and, Stensaker, B. Jungblut, J. & Mihut, G. (2021) Strategic advisory boards - the emergence of shadow governance in universities? (International Journal of Leadership in Education).