WU Transfer Pricing Center

Our Goals

Transfer pricing is one of the most relevant and challenging topics in the international tax environment. The increasing global trade and the role of multinational enterprises in the global economy have boosted the relevance of this topic.

The WU Transfer Pricing Center focuses on researching, analysing, debating and teaching transfer pricing topics. Through its activities, it positions itself as a global institution providing the missing nexus between theory and practice in approaching transfer pricing topics. The Center combines both the academic and practical perspectives and its approach is highly international and interdisciplinary. The Center regularly cooperates with worldwide renowned experts representing international organizations, governments, as well as the business and advisory community.

The Center is an integral part of the Institute for Austrian and International Tax Law at WU Vienna University of Economics and Business (www.wu.ac.at/en/taxlaw/). The Institute is the largest institution of its kind worldwide. As well as being active in research and teaching activities at WU Vienna, the Institute is involved in many national and international research projects and therefore has an excellent worldwide reputation. Being the hub for the international tax community, the Institute offers a unique academic platform for significant, innovative and inspiring tax-related research.
