Program

Thursday, February 18, 2016

8.30 – 9.30	Registration and coffee
9.30 – 10.00	Opening			TC 0.01
10.00 – 11.00	Plenary talk Mark Aronoff Competition and variation			TC 0.01
11.00 – 11.30	Coffee break			Ground floor
11.30 – 12.00	Dorit Ravid, Orit Ashkenazi, Levie Ronit, Galit Ben Zadok, Tehila Grunwald, Ron Bratslavsky, Efrat Raz and Steven Gillis Semantic competition in Hebrew morphological families: A developmental analysis	TC 1.01	Angela Ralli On borrowing compounds	TC 1.02
12.00 – 12.30	Holden Härtl Compounds take the short way to the lexicon—A pragmatic approach to novel word-formation products		Brian Joseph Resolving morphological competition in contact situations
12.30 – 14.30	Lunch break
14.30 – 15.15	Poster session Tomislava Bosnjak Botica and Gordana Hrzica. Competition and suppletion: Evidence from Croatian verbal morphology Gilles Boyé and Gauvain Schalchli. Competitive Predictions: The case of the past-participle converts in French Gjorgje Bozhoviq. Split plurality, historicity and the longue durée Marco Bril and Martine Coene. Written inflections in L2 production in advanced learners of French Anja Hasse. Overabundance or conditioned allomorphy in Zurich German? A closer look Isa Hendrikx, Kristel Van Goethem and Fanny Meunier. Modeling "constructional transfer": A corpus-based study of competing morphological and syntactic intensifiers in native and learner Dutch			TC 3.06, TC 3.07
15.30 – 19.00	Workshops:
	Jim Blevins Discriminative perspectives on morphology			TC 3.06
	Olivier Bonami and Benoît Sagot Computational methods for descriptive and theoretical morphology			TC 3.07
	Phaedra Royle and Karsten Steinhauer Morphology and the brain: Online studies of morphological processing			TC 3.08
	Ida Raffaelli Lexicalization patterns in colour naming: A cross-linguistic perspective			TC 3.09

Friday, February 19, 2016

9.00 – 10.00	Plenary talk Anna M. Thornton Overabundance: A canonical typology			TC 0.01
10.00 – 10.30	Natalia Slioussar Singular nouns looking like plurals cause more agreement attraction than genuine plurals	TC 1.01	Ingo Plag, Lea Rebecca Kawaletz and Marios Andreou Meaning in word-formation: The frame-semantic hypothesis	TC 1.02
10.30 – 11.00	Alexis Dimitriadis, Natalie Boll-Avetisyan and Tom Fritzsche Learnability of fusional and agglutinative morphology: Insights from artificial language learning		Rossella Varvara and Roberto Zamparelli Polysemy and event nominals competition in Italian
11.00 – 11.30	Coffee break			Ground floor
11.30 – 12.00	Berthold Crysmann Positional competition in Chichêwa: A unified approach to templatic and scopal order	TC 1.01	Katharina Korecky-Kröll High competition in German comparatives and superlatives: Results of an online grammaticality judgment experiment	TC 1.02
12.00 – 12.30	Nicholas Kloehn Productive morphology in the wild: A quantitative analysis of novel morpheme use in Swahili and Swahili-English code switching on Twitter		Eric Hoekstra and Arjen Versloot Frequency, similarity and the blocking principle
12.30 – 14.30	Lunch break
14.30 – 15.15	Poster session Elena Kulinich, Phaedra Royle and Daniel Valois. Overregularization as competition Lior Laks and Evan-Gary Cohen. Competing vowels and the lexicon/syntax distinction Anne Merkuur, Arjen Versloot and Willem Visser. Distribution and productivity of changing past participles in Frisian Enzo Santilli. The puzzling case of overabundance in Italian comparatives Paraskevi Savvidou. Issues of competition in evaluative morphology: A corpus-based study of Modern Greek intensifying affixes and compounding components Alexandra Soares Rodrigues. Multiple affixation in Portuguese: Structural restrictions and processing conditions			TC 3.06, TC 3.07
15.30 – 19.00	Workshops:
	Jim Blevins Discriminative perspectives on morphology			TC 3.06
	Olivier Bonami and Benoît Sagot Computational methods for descriptive and theoretical morphology			TC 3.07
	Phaedra Royle and Karsten Steinhauer Morphology and the brain: Online studies of morphological processing			TC 3.08
	Ida Raffaelli Lexicalization patterns in colour naming: A cross-linguistic perspective			TC 3.09

Saturday, February 20, 2016

9.00 – 9.30	Greville Corbett and Sebastian Fedden One system or two? A Canonical Typology approach	TC 1.01	Neil Bermel, Ludek Knittl and Jean Russell Near neighbours, analogy and competing forms in a nonce-word study of Czech morphology	TC 1.02
9.30 – 10.00	Martin Maiden Inflexional morphology and gender in Romanian. Why Romanian only has two genders, and how it might yet acquire a third.		Nabil Hathout and Fiammetta Namer A multi-level paradigm-based model of competition in word formation
10.00 – 10.30	Michele Loporcaro Noun inflection and gender in Romanian		Bernard Fradin Competition in derivation: What can we learn from doublets?
10.30 – 11.00	Coffee break			Ground floor
11.00 – 11.30	Zheng Xu Chinese adjective-noun combinations in a framework combining Construction Morphology with Realization Optimality Theory	TC 1.01	Nikolay Khakimov 'Katholik-en' and 'Muslim-y': Competition in plural marking of German nouns in bilingual Russian sentences	TC 1.02
11.30 – 12.00	Francesca Masini Morphologically complex words and multiword expressions: Competition or cooperation?		Stefan Hartmann Native and non-native alternatives: Competition and reorganization in the German word-formation system
12.00– 13.30	Lunch break
13.30– 14.30	Guided campus tour
14.30 – 15.00	Julia Zimmermann Morphological status and acoustic realization: Is there a difference between Bra[d] Pitt and a grille[d] cheese omelet, or between Kate Mo[s] and killer robot[s]?	TC 1.01	Varvara Magomedova Diminutive suffixes in non-standard Russian	TC 1.02
15.00 – 15.30	Sonia Ben Hedia and Ingo Plag Gemination and degemination in English affixation: Lexical strata, semantics, and phonetic evidence		Wolfgang Dressler, Lavinia Merlini Barbaresi, Sonja Schwaiger, Jutta Ransmayr and Katharina Korecky-Kröll Rivalry and synergy among Italian and German diminutives
15.30 – 16.00	Coffee break			Ground floor
16.00 – 16.30	Matthew Baerman Morphomic compositionality: Verbal plurality in Yuman and Seri	TC 1.01	Lior Laks Hebrew agent nouns: Competing patterns and doublets formation	TC 1.02
16.30 – 17.00	Shoju Chiba The lexical realization patterns and their relationship to productivity: The Finnish symbiotic derivation		Pavel Štichauer Morphomic splits within periphrasis: Mixed paradigms in Italo-Romance
19.30	Social dinner

Sunday, February 21, 2016

9.00 – 10.00	Plenary talk Michael Ramscar Learning, competition and the nature of morphology			TC 0.01
10.00 – 10.30	Isidora Gatarić and Dušica Filipović Đurđević Processing effects of semantic ambiguity of Serbian derivational suffixes	TC 1.01	Verena Wecker Competition in the German plural system: A product-oriented perspective	TC 1.02
10.30 – 11.00	Tamara Irsa, Wolfgang U. Dressler and Gary Libben Competition and cooperation between top-down and bottom-up processing of compounds		Blake Allen and Gunnar Ólafur Hansson Multiple bases and empirical priors in paradigm inference: Experimental evidence from Icelandic
11.00 – 11.30	Coffee break			Ground floor
11.30 – 12.00	Madeleine Voga and Helene Giraudo Lexical competition within the derivational and inflectional paradigm: Some evidence from masked priming with French stimuli	TC 1.01	Laila Kjærbæk and Hans Basbøll Competition in Danish noun plural acquisition	TC 1.02
12.00 – 12.30	Natalia Slioussar and Anton Malko Gender agreement attraction in Russian: different profiles in production and comprehension		Marcel Schlechtweg and Holden Härtl Are morphological products memorized more easily? Learning studies on German, English and French
12.30 – 13.00	Anja Binanzer and Klaus-Michael Köpcke Competing factors for gender agreement: The Agreement Hierarchy from a learner's perspective
13.00	Closing Session			TC 0.01

Workshops:

1. Discriminative perspectives on morphology

   Convenor: Jim Blevins

Thursday, February 18, 2016
15.30–16.00
16.00–16.30
16.30–17.00
17.15–17.45	Jim Blevins and Petar Milin Discriminative abstraction
17.45–18.15	Michael Ramscar The discriminative nature of associative learning, and its implications for morphology
18.15–18.45	Emmanuel Keuleers and Paweł Mandera Beyond Rescorla-Wagner in discriminative morphology
Friday, February 19, 2016
15.30–16.00	Géraldine Walther Discriminative morphomes in Kiranti
16.00–16.30	Dušica Filipović Đurđević and Isidora Gatarić Entropy effects in processing of isolated prepositions
16.30–17.00	Ákos Horváth, Dániel Czégel, Csaba Oravecz and Csaba Pléh Unsupervised learning of morphology: How to measure unpredictability?
	break
17.15–17.45	Marcello Ferro, Claudia Marzi, Vito Pirrelli, Christina Gagné and Thomas Spalding One word or two? Discriminative effects of word entrenchment and competition on processing compounds and pseudo-compounds
17.45–18.15
18.15–18.45

2. Computational methods for descriptive and theoretical morphology

Convenors: Olivier Bonami and Benoît Sagot

	Thursday, February 18, 2016
15.30–16.30	Rob Malouf Deep learning for abstractive morphology
16.30–17.00	Blake Allen Sublexical morphology: Learning and generalizing probabilistic inflectional morphology
	break
17.15–17.45	Gilles Boyé Small world inflection morphology: A fragment for French conjugation
17.45–18.15	Sabine Stoll, Jekaterina Mažara and Balthasar Bickel Measuring the acquisition of morphology in big longitudinal corpora
18.15–18.45	Nabil Hathout and Fiammetta Namer Enriching the Démonette morpho-semantic network: Computational and linguistic issues
	Friday, February 19, 2016
15.30–16.00
16.00–16.30	Sebastian Bank, Daniela Henze, Jochen Trommer and Eva Zimmermann Assessing the typology of person portmanteaux
16.30–17.00	Roland Mühlenbernd, Dankmar Enke and Igor Yanovitch Modeling the grammaticalization path of functional morphemes. A game-theoretic analysis
	break
17.15–17.45	Atticus Harrigan, Lene Antonsen, Antti Arppe, Dustin Bowers, Trond Trosterud and Arok Wolvengrey Learning from the computational modeling of Plains Cree verbs
17.45–18.15	Berthold Crysmann Reduplication in a precision grammar of Hausa
18.15–18.45

3. Morphology and the brain: Online studies of morphological processing

    Convenors: Phaedra Royle and Karsten Steinhauer

	Thursday, February 18, 2016
15.30–16.00	Laura Gwilliams and Alec Marantz Taking morphology seriously: MEG studies of morphological representations
16.00–16.30	Phaedra Royle, Caitlin Coughlin and Karsten Steinhauer On the existence of morphology through the lifespan: ERP and lexical decision experiments
16.30–17.00	Anna Jessen, Elizabeth Fleischhauer and Harald Clahsen ERP-data from a silent-production plus delayed-vocalisation paradigm of regular vs irregular German past participles in adults and children
	break
17.15–17.45	Gunnar Jacob, Rithwik Mutyala, Isabell Wartenburger and Harald Clahsen A tale of blood and light: Using Near-Infrared Spectroscopy to investigate the production of inflected forms in native and non-native speakers
17.45–18.15	Joanna Morris Evidence for a dual-route model of complex word processing
18.15–18.45	General discussion
	Friday, February 19, 2016
15.30–16.00	Davide Crepaldi, Federica Degno, Aureliu Lavric and Kathy Rastle Is there morphology in the parafovea?
16.00–16.30	José Alemán Bañón, Jason Rothman and David Miller The role of markedness in the native and nonnative processing of agreement: An ERP study
16.30–17.00	Sendy Caffarra Influence of gender-to-ending consistency on monolingual and bilingual agreement processing
	break
17.15–17.45	Linnaea Stockall and Christina Manouilidou. MEG and EEG investigations of morpho-syntactic and morpho-semantic wellformedness in prefixed words
17.45–18.15	Gary Libben, Charles Davis and Sid Segalowitz Compound words, semantic transparency, and metaphors for morphological representations in the brain
18.15–18.45	General discussion and closing remarks

4. Lexicalization patterns in colour naming: A cross-linguistic perspective

Convenor: Ida Raffaelli

	Thursday, February 18, 2016
15.30–16.00	Chariton Charitonidis The lexicalization of colour in verbal derivation: The case of Modern Greek and English
16.00–16.30	Andrea Drocco and Orsola Risato Lexicalization patterns in colour naming: The case of Modern Hindī
16.30–17.00	Stefan Engelberg The productivity of German color compounds
	break
17.15–17.45	Benjamin Fagard and Anetta Kopecka "A little greenish blue": Morphological vs syntactic strategies in colour naming in French and Occitan
17.45–18.15	Iraide Ibarretxe-Antuñano Morphological processes in the lexicalization of colour terms in Basque: Labels and functions
18.15–18.45	Katarzyna Jędrzejewska-Pyszczak Welsh colour terms - from compounding to loan translation
	Friday, February 19, 2016
15.30–16.00	Carsten Levisen The syntax of light and the morphology of luminosity: Danish visual semantics revisited
16.00–16.30	Sylwia Łozińska and Paweł Rutkowski Color naming in a three-dimensional linguistic system: The case of Polish Sign Language (PJM)
16.30–17.00	Ida Raffaelli, Jan Chromý and Anetta Kopecka Word-formation and meaning of colour terms in Croatian, Czech and Polish
	break
17.15–17.45	Seongha Rhee Lexicalization patterns in color naming in Korean
17.45–18.15	Arseniy Vydrin and Oleg Belayev Peculiarities of the Ossetic colour system
18.15–18.45	